PROFILE

I am an Economics and Business Administration final year student from the University of Zambia, with particular interests in Finance, Economics, small and medium enterprises (SMEs) all being areas I formally studied and remain deeply passionate about. My desire is to build a career in finance and investments, using modern technology and innovation to help SMEs access smart financial solutions, optimize their operations, and achieve sustainable growth. I offer strong expertise in financial reconciliation, data analysis (STATA), and process automation using Microsoft and Google tools, backed by hands-on experience in finance, project coordination, and strategic planning. With proven skills in research, stakeholder engagement, and multilingual communication, I am ready to drive efficiency and financial insight in any Finance, SME focused or investment driven role.
